Union Leaders Recommend Beck Ouster

Wants Officials To Demand Beck Quit as President

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Teamsters Union's public relations advisers were reported today to have recommended ouster of the union president Dave Beck. The recommendations were before a union committee in session today.

Tony Smith, head of the union's news bureau, said his public relations firm, Allied Public Relations Associates, has submitted a report to the union which "makes specific recommendations of what we feel is best for the union from a public relations standpoint."

Smith would not give details. But the report was understood to include a recommendation that Beck's fellow Teamsters officials make a solid demand that Beck quit the helm of the 1½-million member teamsters organization.

Beck's present five-year term as Teamsters president ends later this year. He has said he will be a candidate for reelection.

The public relations recommendations were being considered by a special five-man committee of the Teamsters General Executive Board. The committee was named six weeks ago to deal with the problem of Beck's suspension as a vice president of the AFL-CIO and as a member of the AFL-CIO executive council.

Buttonholes Congressmen

To Make Strong Fight For Research Budget

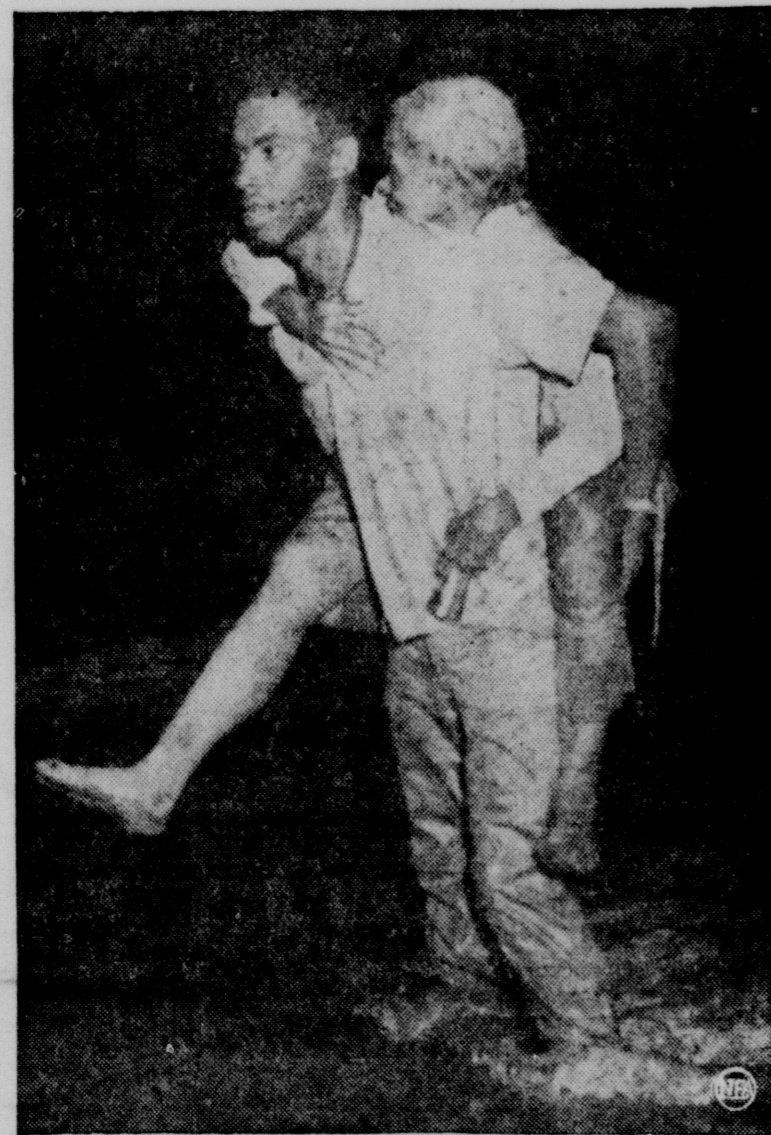

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration will make a strong fight to save its budget recommendations for research to develop new industrial uses for surplus farm products.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson told a meeting of the Newspaper Farm Editors' Assn. yesterday that a proposal of the House Appropriations Committee to cut 12 million dollars off the department's budget for such activity is unacceptable to the administration. The House starts consideration of the bill today.

Benson and his aides will do a lot of talking with members of Congress to try to save the research item.

The House committee recommendation came less than a month after a presidential commission—which had been authorized by Congress—recommended costing 100 millions a year.

The commission declared it believed industrial uses offered agriculture a more fruitful future outlook than the export market.

To Question Lawyer

Senate Group Checks Report Of Favoring Trucking Firms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rack-ets investigators said they hoped to learn in hearings today whether Teamsters boss Dave Beck gave favored union treatment to trucking firms which helped get him a $200,000 personal loan.

The staff of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee indicated it will bring Norman Gessert, husband of Beck's wife's niece, to Washington soon for testimony.

Gessert, sought for questioning for nearly two months, was found and served with a subpoena last night at Ellensburg, Wash.

Gessert has been linked in testimony by witnesses at the Senate hearings to various financial dealings by Beck.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) told a reporter a staff investigator for the committee probably will interview Gessert as the next step before Gessert is called before a public hearing at some future date.

"We'll get them all," McClellan said of the committee's long search for other witnesses. "They'll all have their day in court before this committee."

The committee is still trying to locate Dave Beck Jr. and some others who were in on Beck's financial dealings.

An afternoon committee session was ticketed for inquiry into whether Beck gave favored treatment to trucking firms which helped get him a $200,000 personal loan.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said he expected to ask Alphonse Landa, Washington counsel for the Fruehauf Trailer Co., about a series of office memos written by Arthur Condon, another lawyer in the same firm.

The memos related that other trucking firms involved in a 1955 New England area Teamsters strike were critical of Fruehauf.

Rejects Europe Tryout

Secretary of State Suggests the Arctic Would Be Better For Arms Cut Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, rejecting any idea of a neutralized zone dividing Germany, said today it might be easier to set up a disarmament test with Russia in the Arctic rather than in Europe.

Dulles told a news conference many problems and pitfalls are involved in working out a pilot agreement for an arms control system as applied to some European areas.

He said that State Department thinking now is primarily concerned with Arctic territory and other sparsely settled regions.

Furthermore, Dulles argued that such an area, if agreed on, could be very useful in relaxing tensions because inspection, including aerial photography, would cover regions from which atomic attacks might be launched by either of the great powers against the other.

Dulles made these other points in response to reporters' questions:

1. American newspapers and wire services might rely on foreigners to get information out of Red China for them. Dulles said the U. S. government, which has objected to visits to Red China by American newsmen, would have no responsibility for protecting foreign nationals.

2. The United States would not oppose Israel's announced intention to send a test ship to the Suez Canal and it would not approve any action by Egypt to keep the ship from using the canal.

By these two negatives, Dulles appeared to give tacit U. S. okay for the Israel test plan and to put the United States in opposition to any action against it by Egypt.

3. The United States is considering introduction of more modern weapons into South Korea. Dulles in effect said the armistice agreement barring replacements except when they are the same type as already in Korea is out of date and needs sensible interpretation. He also said the Red Chinese have been violating it by introducing jet planes into North Korea.

4. It would be a very great misfortune in the administration's view if the Senate refused approval of U. S. membership in the proposed international atom-for-peace agency which President Eisenhower took the lead in forming.

The discussion of a disarmament zone was a follow-up to what American officials viewed as misinterpretation of the American stand.

Reports Ike Stand on Cut For Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was quoted today as saying he "would not want to assume any responsibility for the safety of the country" if Congress slashes his spending proposals for aircraft and guided missiles.

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts told reporters about Eisenhower's stand after the weekly meeting between the President and GOP congressional chiefs.

Martin referred to reports that the Democratic-controlled House Appropriations Committee is considering severe cuts in the administration's request for defense funds.

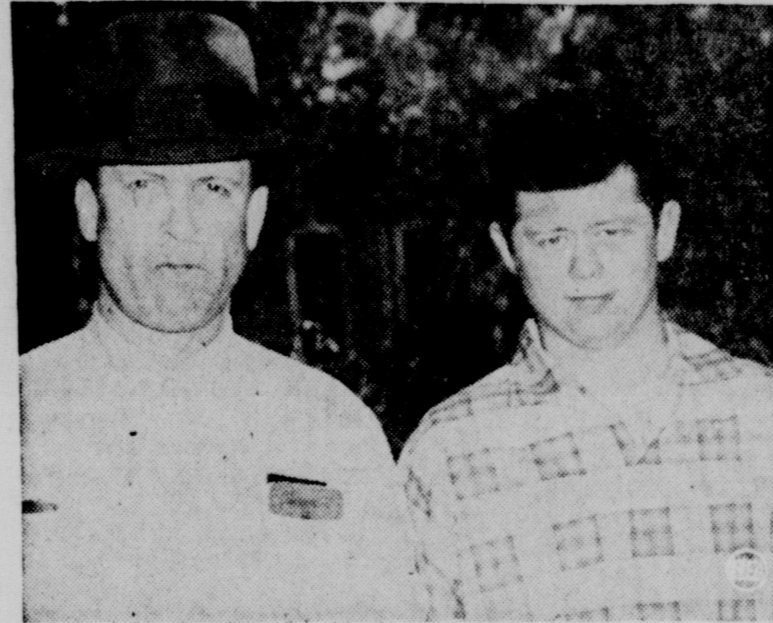

"The President said he would not want to assume any responsibility for the safety of the country if cuts were made of any substantial nature in missiles and aircraft," Martin said.

Eisenhower gave the Republican leaders what amounted to a preview of the radio-TV appeal he will make to the nation (7 p.m. CST) in defense of his $71,800,000 budget. The spending plans are threatened with sharp cuts by the lawmakers.

Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California told newsmen he is in full agreement with the President on the need for "maintaining muscle" in national defense so long as the Communist world remains a threat.

It Now Goes to House

Senate Approves Bill On Safety Department

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri Senate passed today a broad bill to set up a new state department of public safety and fire prevention—one of the measures endorsed recently by Gov. James T. Blair.

The vote sending it to the House, where it still must be acted on, was 28-1. If passed by both houses and signed by the governor, the new law would go into effect at once.

It calls for the governor to appoint a state director of public safety at $10,000 a year. His staff would be bipartisan and he could enlist the aid of local fire chiefs as special deputies.

The director would have broad power to inspect all buildings where people gather — hotels, theaters, restaurants, institutional buildings and so on—and set up fire safety rules for them. He could order fire hazards corrected and violations would be misdemeanors punishable by fines of $25 to $100 a day.

The bill represents a compromise worked out after fire safety became a big issue following the disastrous nursing home fire at Warrenton Feb. 17, when 72 persons died.

While the Senate pushed ahead through its heavy docket of bills, the House plugged along on relatively minor house bills, making a last effort to get a few pet measures shoved over to the Senate.

Passed was a bill to give the Missouri Pacific Railroad a right of way through Knob Noster State Park for tracks to Whiteman Air Force Base.

Killed was a measure to license and regulate persons who remove hair with an electric needle.

Blair Signs Savings, Loan Appeal Bill

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A bill setting up a state commission to hear appeals in savings and loan company charter cases was signed by Gov. James T. Blair today.

The bill establishes a five-member commission, appointed by the governor, to review operations of the state savings and loan supervisor's office and advise on savings and loan company investments.

If the supervisor rejects an application for a charter, an appeal may be taken to the board in the same way banks may appeal to the State Bank Appeals Commission.

Also signed today were bills to: Raise the pay of magistrate and court jurors from $1 to $3 a day and increase their mileage from 5 to 7 cents a mile.

Set up a uniform gifts to minors law in Missouri with provisions for a legal custodian to look after a minor's securities.

Give the State Park Board authority to swap a tract of Meramec State Park land for some owned by the Sandy Ford Ranch in Franklin County.

Officials Will Meet To Organize County Fire Association

The County Court, Civil Defense officials, fire chiefs, mayors and aldermen from communities in Pettis County will meet Thursday night to organize a county-wide fire protection association.

Civil Defense officials and a representative of a radio firm will be present to explain a program of installing two-way radio on all the fire trucks in the county. Under this program, part of the cost is paid by the Federal Civil Defense program.

Blair Repeats Caution Need

Tells His New Budget Staff To Cut Fat From Spending

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. James T. Blair told his new budget staff today the state government must cut the fat out of its spending before asking the people for any new revenue.

The governor called the new staff members to his office to give them his views and again sounded the theme of fiscal caution that has marked his administration from the start. This is the way he put it in a statement prepared for the budget experts:

"As you know, I plan to call a special session of the Legislature after the first of the calendar year to present a budget for the second year of the coming biennium. Our expenditures and appropriations are outstripping our revenues for the coming fiscal year and we may have to seek additional revenues.

"I do not believe it right for us to do it until we can give the public assurance that we are receiving full value from the tax dollars we are now spending.

"Accordingly, I want you to probe deeply for waste that can be eliminated, for duplication that can be avoided, or for services that are over expanded or not fully justified."

The governor said that in this first year of building a budget based on agency needs, first attention must be given to services financed from general revenue (tax) money "as that is the place where we have the greatest financial difficulty."

Analyzing the money requests of state agencies, Blair told the budget staff to keep in mind the requests cannot always be met in full.

Few Tickets Still on Hand For Banquet

Tickets for the banquet honoring Armed Forces Day and at which Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, chief of the Air Force ballistic missile program, will be the guest speaker, are still available. Slightly over 200 tickets remain of the 625, and persons desiring to hear the general can make their reservations by calling the Chamber of Commerce.

Friday night, in the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria, the area communities of Whiteman Air Force Base will have delegations attending the affair. It is to pay tribute not only to Armed Forces Day but also to the officers and men of the Air Force stationed at Whiteman.

Stressing area recognition, not just a Sedalia affair, it is hoped all communities will participate in the event. The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce is handling the arrangements with a desire that people of Warrensburg, Windsor, Clinton, La Monte, Knob Noster, and Sweet Springs will attend.

United States Senator Stuart Symington, Missouri's junior Senator in Washington, D. C., will be here to introduce Gen. Schriever, Gov. James T. Blair is expected to attend and will give a brief talk of welcome to Missouri.

Those in charge of the tickets indicate representation from other cities outside of the immediate area of the Whiteman AFB, Chillicothe, Jefferson City, Warsaw, Lexington, Marshall, Concordia, Booneville and Holden.

Reservations for the dinner must be made by Wednesday evening. Those who anticipate attending are requested to contact the Chamber office for tickets.

House Passes Bill on State Mental Post

Measure Requires Professional Man To Be Appointed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Passed by the House yesterday and returned to the Senate was a bill to give Missouri's Division of Mental Diseases a professional administration.

Much tougher than the original Senate bill, the House version would bar the present director of mental diseases, B. E. "Squire" Ragland, from continuing to hold the office. It would require that the new director, appointed by a five-man commission, be a psychiatrist or a medical doctor experienced in treating mental and nervous disorders.

Ragland, veteran of eight years in the job, was described as at best a businessman. Other House members called him a "boob" and a "county politician."

He gets $7,500 a year now and bosses mental hospital superintendents who are paid $15,500. The House version of the bill would set the director's maximum pay at not more than the governor receives, now $25,000 a year.

About half the Democratic members of the House tried to change the bill to perpetuate Ragland in office. But the other half teamed up with minority Republicans to lighten the qualifications so Ragland would be forced out.

Passed and sent to the governor was a bill allowing teachers who move from one area to another to transfer their retirement contributions also.

Communities Hold Elections

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Special elections will be held in four Missouri communities today. Springfield residents will vote on a $22,000,000 bond issue to purchase the Springfield Water Co., a private firm. The bonds would be retired over a period of 40 years from the facility's earnings.

At Joplin, a $1,450,000 bond issue to finance enlargement of two sewage treatment plants and extension of sewer mains will be decided. Approval would furnish sewers for 98 per cent of the community's land area.

Voters in Audrain County will decide on distribution of $101,200 in county and township capital school funds. The funds would be divided among school districts in proportion to a school census now under way.

Raytown residents will decide on a $3,200,000 sewer project. In October 1955, a $1,800,000 proposal was rejected in that Jackson County community.

Coutts said he shouted to Knapp to duck back and that Martin then pointed his gun at Coutts. Coutts said he fired once, hitting Martin in the leg. When Martin failed to drop his gun, Coutts fired again.

Organization Of Rural Fire Unit Is Delayed

Organization of a Boonville rural fire department to cover a radius of about ten miles in Cooper County and extending into Howard County across the Missouri River is still in the balance.

Monday night at the Cooper County courthouse about 25 proponents and financial supporters of the proposal met and decided to extend for two weeks the time for final decision which is dependent on sufficient pledges to raise a sum of from $10,000 to $14,000 for purchase of a fire truck, the total amount to be expended based on cost of the truck and added equipment.

Thus far about 30 checks have been received most of them for $50 each, the membership fee for organization having been set at that figure. The total received thus far is approximately $4,000.

Henry Fuser, temporary chairman, gave a report on progress attained and it was voted to continue solicitation through committees in 12 school districts to make canvass of prospective supporters in the movement to give what would be fire protection in rural communities not now having such. The Boonville fire department, like the Sedalia city companies are limited to usage of fire trucks of the city within its limits. However, Pettis County has a first class truck and fire company for rural service that has its fire department headquarters at Main Street and State Fair Blvd.

Reports Stars Will Appear Before Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two show business personalities, pianist Liberace and actress Maureen O'Hara, reportedly will be the first witnesses today when the Los Angeles County grand jury begins a criminal libel investigation of Confidential Magazine.

Neither was on the subpoena list but newspaper stories said they would appear voluntarily.

Liberace was the subject of a lurid article featured in canary yellow pages in the July issue of Confidential circulated here. His attorney John R. Jacobs Jr. told a reporter that after the pianist's voluntary grand jury appearance he will file a 25-million-dollar damage suit against the magazine, asking 20 millions general and personal and five millions punitive damages.

Miss O'Hara was the subject of an article in the magazine some time ago.

Approximately 20 witnesses have been subpoenaed but prosecutors indicated none are Hollywood stars.

Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown disclosed that he had received—and turned down—a proposal under which Confidential would clean up its California edition on condition that the libel case be dropped.

Brown said the offer came from former Chief Dep. Dist. Atty. Adolph Alexander of Los Angeles, now a private attorney representing Confidential publisher Robert Harrison.

"I seriously considered taking the offer," Brown said. "It would have stopped libel publication in California and would have given attorneys general of other states a tool that eventually would have put the magazine out of business."

"On more mature consideration, and after discussions with Asst. Atty. Gen. Clarence Linn and Dist. Atty. William McKesson, we decided to go ahead. We decided the laws of criminal libel have been violated."

Police Detectives Fall for Gag, Raid Small Private Party

CHICAGO (AP)—Three police detectives walked into a plush Lake Shore Drive apartment yesterday, interrupting a small party for Mrs. Perle Mesta, the famed hostess who was being honored by members of Chicago's social set.

The announcement was greeted with a moment of silence followed by an outburst of laughter from the 50 guests. Mrs. Edmond Faulkner, the hostess, explained the gathering.

"I wonder if they thought I brought some slot machines with me," said Mrs. Mesta, who had just arrived from a vacation in Reno, Nev.

Mrs. Mesta remarked it was the first time the police had paid a call, and added: "It's exciting, isn't it?"

Former Star Leaves Opera To Become Gospel Singer

DALLAS — (NEA) — On a bleak February day in 1951, New Jersey newspapers carried six - column headlines:

SINGER LEAVES OPERA TO SING FOR HIS SAVIOUR.

A few months earlier, at three o'clock in the morning, Anton Marco, considered one of the great singers of his time, had knelt by the side of his bed in his home in Paramus, N. J. and accepted Christ as his personal Saviour.

From his position as first baritone of the San Carlo Opera, this proud Italian, a professed atheist, had been brought to the humble position of bending his knee to a power he could no longer resist.

Since that unforgettable day, Marco, who speaks six languages, has thrilled hundreds of thousands with his powerful voice singing gospel hymns throughout Latin America and in Europe, sponsored by the Latin American Mission of San Jose, Costa Rica. He is currently on a mission-singing journey to the Latin American people of Texas that will have its finale at a huge rally in the bull ring at Juarez, Mexico.

"Before that day," he says, simply, "I sang in Carmen. Today, I sing for Christ!" The transition was not easy for the stocky, energetic and handsome Marco.

It probably began during World War II, though he did not realize it at the time. He was attached to a USO troupe and many times sang for troops who were only hours away from eternity, but the tragedy all around him seemed not to affect him at all. Then one day he was asked to sing something spiritual for a group of youngsters leaving for the front.

"What could I, a confirmed atheist, offer these young men that would strengthen them in their darkest hour?" he recalls bitterly. "I limited myself to singing 'The Lord's Prayer,' though I didn't then believe a word I sang."

After the war he returned to his beloved opera, apparently unchanged.

After an engagement at the San Francisco Opera House, Marco returned home to find his wife Mourine had found religion. Some time before she had enrolled herself and two of their three children, Stephanie and Tony, in a Bible Club in their neighborhood, and not long afterwards she discovered she could no longer live without Christ in her life.

Marco was introduced to the people at the Bible Club and was a plane for St. Louis to be with her parents, Marco paced the floor of his home, greatly disturbed. Unable to sleep, he finally reached for his Bible and it fell open at the third chapter of Revelations. As he read his eyes focused on the 20th verse. It reads:

ANTON MARCO: "Move over, I'm in the fold with you."

"Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me."

"There was no question about it," Marco says. "Jesus was talking to me in that verse and at last I was able to hear. At three o'clock that morning I knelt by my bed and in the best way I knew how gave my life to Christ."

He rose from his knees, walked to his desk and penned this letter to his wife:

"Move over, I'm in the fold with you!"

It was the shortest letter he ever wrote Mourine; the letter was the ultimate in brevity for Marco. Usually his letters run page after page. Today they call his letters to his wife "The Epistles of Marco."

His first appearance as a gospel singer was at the St. Nicholas Arena in New York where he sang for more than 8,000 Latin Americans. From the day his San Carlo contract expired all doors to the opera have been closed, but doors in the gospel-singing field have been opening wider.

An album of Marco's gospel songs in French has just been released in Paris. While in Dallas he recorded another in Spanish. Soon he will begin work on an album in Greek.

Teenage Boy Strangles Tot, Buries Body

CHICAGO —A 3-year-old girl was strangled and buried under the front porch of her home yesterday and police said a 14-year-old neighbor boy admitted the crime shortly after the child's body was found early today.

Capt. Robert Ryan, deputy chief of the uniformed police, said the youth, Lawrence (Larry) Madsen, admitted he strangled Lise Jorgensen in his basement apartment, took off her clothes and hid the nude body.

Police began searching for the little girl when she was reported missing about 4 p.m. yesterday. They found the body shortly after midnight.

Ryan quoted Madsen as saying he had lured the girl into his bedroom to play records for her. They lived in the same apartment building on the Northwest Side.

"She started crying," Ryan quoted the boy. "Something uncontrollable came over me. I don't know why I did it but I took off my tie, tied it around her neck and strangled her. She turned blue."

Madsen further related, Ryan said, he disrobed the girl but did not molest her sexually, and then carried her through a window from the basement into an enclosure under the front porch. He buried her in about six inches of soft dirt, and threw a rug over the dirt. He then returned to his room and finished his school homework.

More than 100 policemen joined in the search for Lise after her mother Mrs. Inger Jorgensen, 27, reported her missing. A detective came upon the freshly turned dirt near the front porch enclosure, leading to discovery of the body.

Harry Truman Predicts Growing Trade Will Make Aid Unnecessary

DALLAS —Foreign aid by the billion in time will be made unnecessary by mushrooming foreign trade, former President Harry S. Truman predicted last night.

Truman chided oil and cotton interests which he cited as examples of those who he said demand high tariffs in order to hold their own with foreign competitors.

"The industries which clamor for protection of high tariff barriers are usually sick and stagnant industries to begin with—maybe like your down-trodden oil boys here in Texas," he said in a nonpolitical appearance sponsored by the John E. Owens Memorial Foundation. Truman delivered the Owens Memorial Lecture on the role presidents take in lowering tariffs.

CALCUTTA —A 40-year-old Hindu sadhu—a religious beggar—has been arrested on a murder charge after authorities found the skulls of six children in his possession.

The man reportedly said the skulls were given to him by his mentor for use in practicing magic.

A number of headless children's bodies have been found recently on the outskirts of Calcutta.

Populace Fights Back

Town That Died Under Wall Of Water Has Resurrection

LAMPASAS, Tex. —For a town that died last Sunday under a 10-foot wall of water, Lampasas today was showing definite signs of resurrection.

Merchants and housewives were cleaning up, an employment office was set up and the town's population of nearly 5,000 was swelled by relief workers and engineers.

The relief workers were sorting out the problems and making plans to help people back on their feet. Engineers were helping straighten out the tangled town by doing such things as moving houses out of the streets.

There even was a glint of humor yesterday when the sun broke through clouds and melted them away.

"I'm going to have a special on mud packs," quipped Annette Spivey as she shoveled ooze out of her tiny beauty parlor.

Maj. Clyde Villemez, commander of the 46th Engineers Construction Battalion at nearby Ft. Hood, said, "With good weather, it still will be three weeks before we can clear the debris, open streets and put the city back into working shape."

The disaster struck about 8:45 p. m. Sunday. A levee on Sulphur Creek broke.

The wall of water swept through the town, virtually destroyed much of the business section of 86 establishments and damaged 310 homes, 38 of which were demolished. Some homes were floated blocks away.

It absolutely cleared some business houses—walls, ceilings and merchandise.

In others, the weight of water crumpled floors, dropped merchandise into water-filled basements and thereby created water-logged junk.

Four persons drowned or were killed when the flood struck. The Red Cross listed 36 as missing at one time, but most turned up later.

One was missing and presumed dead.

Lampasas residents could not purchase flood insurance.

"We couldn't get it because of said, 'With good weather, it still flood of 1936,'" said Romans O'Hair, cashier and vice president of the First National Bank. Everyone who could push a broom or lift a shovel was removing the two to five inches of mud that covered everything and which only a short time ago was dust in this once-dry drought area.

Assisting Red Cross volunteers were several teen-age girls whose high school also was flooded.

Martha Medart, 16, without shoes, poured coffee for anyone wanting it. "I'm barefoot," she said, "because we can't find our shoes. The flood was in our house too."

Jan Jones, 17, of Greenville,

"I came up for the junior-senior prom and couldn't get out," she said. "I used to live here and I'm going to help until it's over."

Melvin L. Burns, county jailer, had his own troubles.

The two-story jail held only one but the jail was well populated anyway. W. A. (Bud) White and his family were visiting with the Burns. The White's automobile was swept away. So the White family of five and the Burns family of 10 were marooned for the night.

Attentiveness and politeness to strangers in our midst is advocated in a bulletin mailed to Mr. and Mrs. Sedalia Merchant by the Industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

There is no denying industrialists or even homemakers wanting to find a new community in which to locate, place great stress upon the attitudes of employers and sales people they encounter during an exploratory visit.

Be alert and polite, be optimistic in your conversation, talk happiness and prosperity, be enthusiastic, be a builder, it will pay off in the long run, urges the committee. That stranger may decide by his opinion of your attitude whether to locate in Sedalia.

The Industrial committee has a strong point in such a recommendation. Sedalia wants new industries and new people to make this their home.

But who is a stranger? How many employers and clerks know everybody in our community or trade territory who come to shop? Impossible! If trades people are going to be polite to strangers they must be polite to all and these include first the folk who have lived here 10, 25 or 50 years. It takes a while for new clerks to learn who these people are, but they are good prospects on whom to practice a smile and courteous treatment in preparation for that great day when a stranger comes along who may spot an industry here.

Courtesy is a product you can't retail one day and put in storage next week. The perpetual welcome sign may be out front but if it isn't maintained inside then business will be hurt. The customer who patronize stores for a quarter of a century, because he is made to feel welcome and stimulated by polite clerks and proprietors may never come into those stores again if he runs afoul of stony-faced, indifferent employees who have not been thoroughly briefed on courtesy and personal interest in the shoppers they meet face to face across the counter.

On a recent trip south we went out of our way to dine at a place in Vero Beach, Florida, bragging to our companions about what enthusiastic reception we had met there before. So it was with utter amazement we encountered a waitress who was so sullen and indifferent to our needs that we'll never stop at that place again.

Politeness can be overdone, too when it is recognized as fawning.

The boss or clerk who has ulcers and can't provide gentle courtesy to customers ought to take a vacation. Neither is in condition to welcome stranger or friend because the latter may come away with the same affliction after being served by sour pussies.

We hope Abe Silverman's renewed courtesy appeal catches on permanently in Sedalia.

Gentle courtesy, what crimes of indignation and indigestion are committed in your absence!

Battle of Budget Is a Double-Header

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has to win two battles when he faces the nation on TV tonight.

No. 1 is the obvious battle of the budget.

No. 2 is the battle which GOP leaders understand much better than Ike—for control of the Republican party.

If Ike loses his round with Congress over foreign aid and the budget, then the "regular Republicans" take over. They know this, and that's one reason they are fighting so hard and why they don't want him to fight hard.

It's also why the palace guard is trying to get Ike to fight hard. They know, and have been telling the President that, if he loses this round, "modern Republicanism" is dead. He can kiss good-bye any idea of remaking the Republican party in his own image.

The White House staff began telling newsmen and Congressmen even while the President was in Augusta that he was going to battle for the budget. They may well have done so before fully consulting the President, for at that time he was still being very paltry with the man who first pulled the rug out from under his budget, George Humphrey.

However, the White House staff knew far better than the President that when you lose one big battle on Capitol Hill, the rest of your battles are likely to be lost for the next four years.

Goldy Likes Ike—But—
Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, most vociferous of the "regular Republicans," telephoned the White House the other day.

"I like Ike," he protested, "but don't let him go on television. The people are not for him on the budget. The reaction will break his heart."

Almost as soon as he hung up, Goldwater began cussing out the man whose heart he didn't want to break.

He talked about 1958 when "we" are going to get control. He pointed to the fact that most of the Republican senators up for reelection in 1958 are conservatives. Only two or three modern Republicans are up for re-election.

"And," he said, looking further ahead, "we're going to capture control with Knowland in 1960." He referred to the backing which regular Republicans are organizing for Sen. Bill Knowland for president in 1960.

Note—Regular Republicans are already working to replace Knowland when he retires from the Senate next year with conservative Sen.

Guest Editorial—

TULSA WORLD: Don't Talk So Big. There probably isn't a more realistic phrase in the English language than "small talk." It has another very apt name, "idle conversation."

There is no need to try to define these terms. They are, as Abraham Lincoln would say, "self-evident." If anything, they are understated.

If you don't believe this, tune in on a conversation at your next party, preferably one involving strangers. Don't try it with your own conversation because you would be prejudiced.

Too much conversation consists of an absurdism followed by an inanity and topped by utter foolishness.

And yet we couldn't get along without it. Small talk is a means of maintaining conversation during a lull. It would be embarrassing just to stand there.

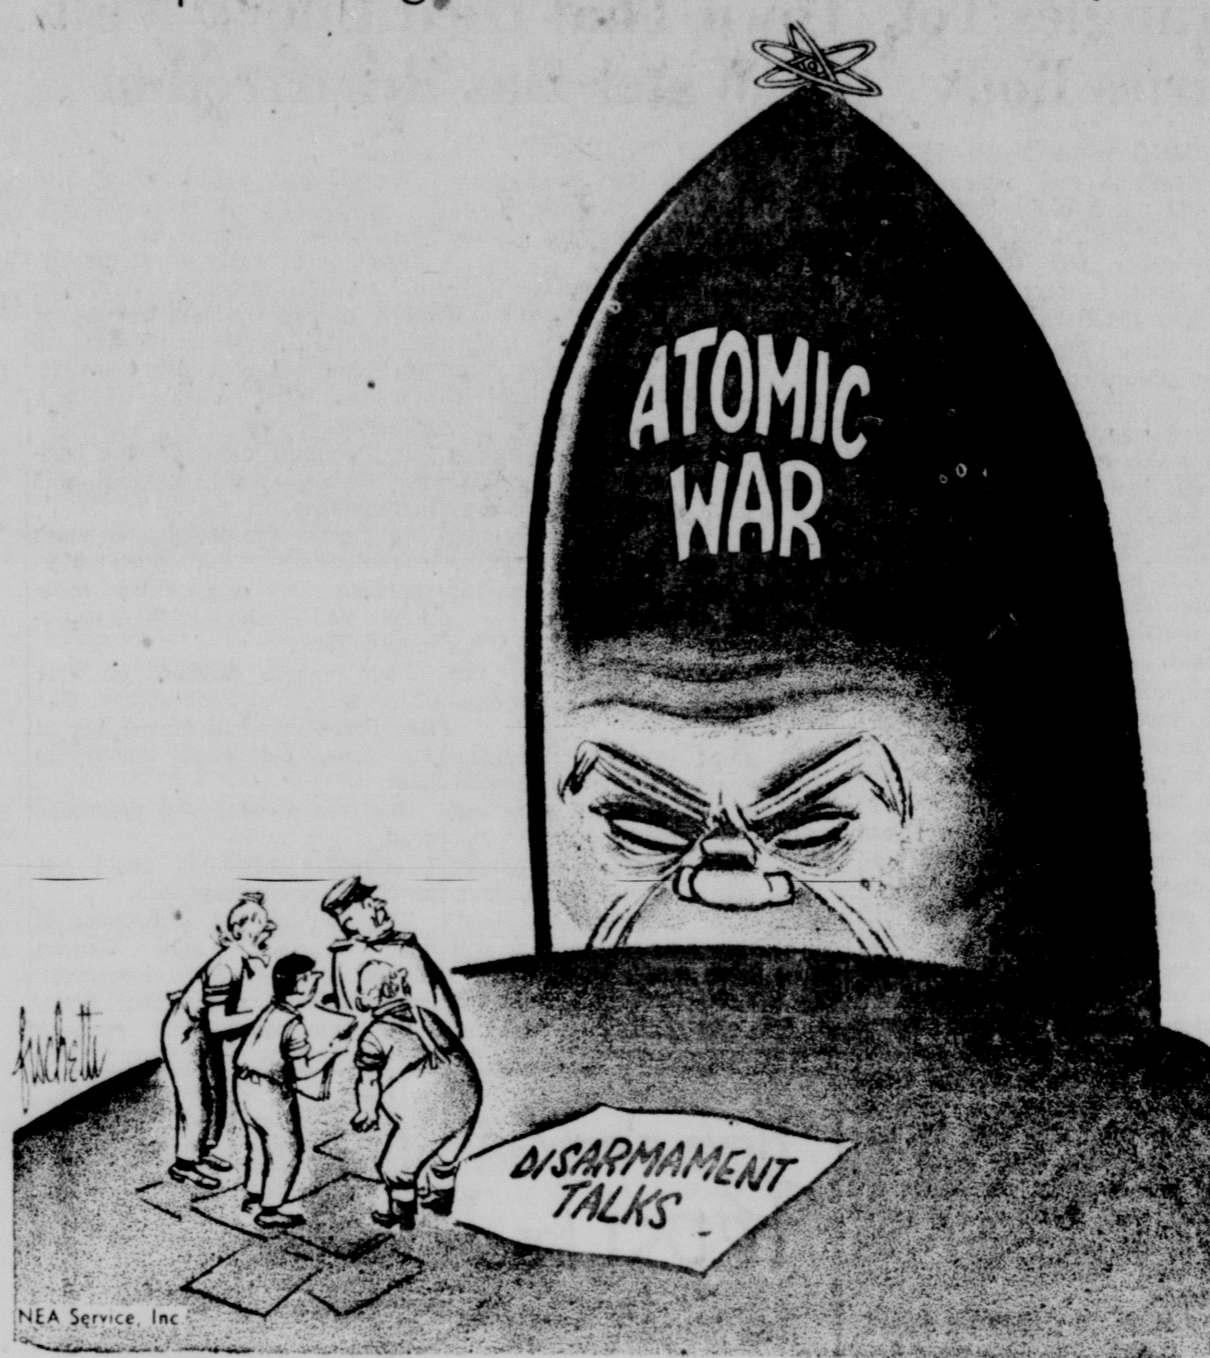

So while we're thinking of something to say, our tongue operates automatically. But our brains are occupied elsewhere and we pay no attention to what we are saying.

This doesn't matter because the other members of the group are busy paying no attention to what they are saying and don't listen.

So talk small, converse idly. At least it's a welcome bit of relaxation in these days of slogans such as "Think Big," "Do It Now," and "No Parking."

Just remember not to take what you say seriously.

Describes Agency for Peaceful Atom Use

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is an ABC on world organization for developing peaceful uses of the atom — called the International Atomic Energy Agency — which President Eisenhower first proposed Dec. 8, 1953.

After three years of negotiations among the big and little nations — to make this kind of agency a foolproof as possible — 80 nations, including the United States, have signed an agreement for creating it.

The explanation which follows is taken from the rules laid down in that agreement and the statements made by Secretary of State Dulles and his State Department in defense of American membership in the IAEA.

Although 80 nations have signed the IAEA agreement, it can't come into existence until formal approval is given by 18 nations, including at least three of the Big Five to do so. Eisenhower has asked the Senate to approve, as it would approve any treaty, by the hard-to-get two-thirds vote.

If the Senate refuses — because of the opposition of right-wing Republicans and conservative Democrats — the whole plan may either collapse or be taken over by Russia and those willing to go along with her.

This is how it would be set up:
1. There would be a supervisory body called the general conference in which each member would have one vote. It would meet once a year. There would be no veto. Decisions would be made by a two-thirds or majority vote, depending on the issue.

2. The real boss would be the Board of Governors. Twenty-three nations would be represented on this board. That, of course, would include the United States. No one would have a veto. The voting would be the same as in the general conference.

3. The work would be done by a staff — of perhaps 450 people — headed by a director general. He would be responsible to the Board of Governors and independent of control by any national government.

The director would pick his staff on the basis of scientific and technical qualifications from the member countries. The annual cost of running the agency would be between six and seven million dollars, of which the United States would put up about two million.

The agency would not be part of the United Nations.

This is the purpose of the agency: to encourage research on the peaceful uses of atomic energy, exchange information on its peaceful uses, and exchange and train scientists and experts.

Here's an example of how it would work: The "have" nations — like the United States, Britain, Russia — could make available to the agency amounts of atomic material. Then a "have nots" nation, which wanted to use that material, could ask the agency for it after presenting a project to justify its request.

For what purposes could such material be used? In producing electric power, in medical or scientific research in agriculture, or even in industry. The agency could also supply equipment.

How could the board be sure there wasn't cheating, that the asking nation, after getting the atomic material, might not use it for weapons? The board, through its staff, would have the right to send inspectors into any asking country.

Is this a giveaway program? Dulles says no. No nation has to supply atomic materials to the agency. But when it does so, the nation using those materials is expected to pay for them, at least to some degree.

Shyness Is Child's Natural Defense Against Hostility

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

A Reader writes:

"During my sister's recent hospitalization and convalescence, her two children stayed at her mother-in-law's. The boy has come home so shy that it worries us. He says that his grandmother didn't spank him; but as she's always been critical of him, preferring his younger sister, she's clearly hurt him in ways he can't describe. How can we help him overcome his shyness?"

By respecting it as an illustration of this little boy's resourcefulness instead of fearing it as an affliction.

If his grandmother pursued him with criticism, it was most reasonable for him to defend himself by developing shyness.

When someone attacks us, there are four ways by which we can defend ourselves against him: We can fight him back, we can get someone else to fight him back for us, we can run away — or we can, like Jesus, transcend our hateful experience and love our enemy.

The first alternative was properly discarded by this little boy, since fighting his grandmother back would have worsened his situation. The second was out because nobody was around to fight for him. Jesus' method was light-years beyond his powers. So the only really practical alternative he had was running away through shyness that distracted his grandmother's critical interest.

Now at home he is regarded as a sad case instead of being admired for his resourcefulness.

It is this view of him that is the problem — not his shyness.

His aunt and mother begin to revise their view of him by remembering that the young of most creatures are shy in hostile surroundings. That's just the way they should be.

If they were bold, impatient and careless instead of shy and self-effacing, they'd soon be turned into leals for stronger creatures. But let a human child turn to shyness in a critical environment — and everyone starts wondering if he needs a psychiatrist.

It is the case with all children's behavior from thumb-sucking to telling lies, it's not the shyness that should concern us but our fear of it.

Once this little boy senses that his shyness is accepted as a natural response to what happened to him, he'll outgrow it. But if he's made to feel it's queer and afflictive, the confidence he needs to develop more aggressive self-defense may be destroyed.

Asking a teen-ager to tell you "everything" about anything makes him shut up like a clam. If you want to hear all about the party, ask one unimportant little question, and chances are a lot of information will follow.

If you want to know more about your daughter's friends, don't ask a lot of prying questions that indicate you are trying to find out the United States has agreed to make available to the agency, when it starts business, 5,000 kilograms of U-235 and to match the contributions made by other nations between that time and July 1, 1960. So far Russia has promised only 50 kilograms and Britain 20. Russia, which has its own atomic supplies, is not expected to ask the IAEA for any atomic materials.

Truman Sure 'Good Man' Will Pop Up to Lead Dems

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Ex-President Harry S. Truman is just as full of beans as ever, and he's scrapping every step of the way.

He breezed into Washington for the weekend meeting of the Democratic National Committee, its 24-member Advisory Council and a $100-a-plate dinner which was anything but a sellout.

It showed that even if the Republicans are now critical of President Eisenhower, they aren't deserting the GOP to join the Democrats.

In fact, President Eisenhower got a few kind words from the Democratic leaders — but only a few.

"I never criticize the President of the United States," Truman declared in a bull session with a few reporters. "The President of the United States always has enough troubles, as it is," he explained.

But for the next two days he did little else but criticize the Eisenhower administration.

While he usual pitch of a political elder statesman is to counsel harmony and to tell various factions that they ought to pull together for the good of the party, Truman took just the opposite course.

"The Democrats should stick to the welfare of the people," Truman urged as the first rule of his party.

"I don't expect them to stick together. They never have. They're like cats. When cats fight, it just means more cats. When Democrats fight over issues, it just means more Democrats."

"Congress is the place where the party fights ought to originate," Truman insisted. "But a great many of our people up there are new at this business. They don't know how to work these things out."

Truman declined to say who the next leader of the Democratic party would be. "A good man will come up," he said with assurance. "One always has. I don't know who he will be."

Truman said he was going to "look 'em over" during his two-day stay in Washington. But he left town without saying if he had found the new candidate he would back for 1960.

Truman's only comment on Governor Stevenson was, "The voters expressed their opinion of Governor Stevenson in the last election." Truman and Stevenson met on outwardly friendly enough terms in Washington, as they have since Chicago. They both sat in on meetings of the Advisory Council.

On the Eisenhower budget, both Truman and Stevenson threw their support to the President. This will probably damn it more with Republican critics than if the two Democrats had criticized it.

Stevenson warned the Democrats against joining in the budget-cutting drive, if they wanted to be taken seriously as "the party of the people."

Truman dismissed it with, "People always criticize the budget. I never paid any attention to 'em."

The inference was plainly that President Eisenhower should follow the same policy.

Picturing himself as "just a newspaper columnist and a college lecturer now," Truman declared that "I'm not a pessimist," even though he had plenty of criticism to throw at the way the Republican administration was running things.

In his writing and lecturing, Truman seems to be counseling the government to take bold action to avoid crises, instead of waiting till a crisis arises, then trying to get out of it.

"The two worst things in the world are to try to be a prophet and to look backward," he says. "I hate to be a prophet. I'm still being educated."

The thing he is looking forward to most, he says, is the dedication of the Truman Memorial Library in Independence, Mo., on July 6. That, and the arrival of his first grandchild.

Kills Doctor, Cause Alleged Rape of Wife

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A retired Navy officer told police yesterday he shot and killed a past president of the California Tuberculosis and Health Assn. because his wife committed suicide after the physician had raped her.

A cab driver trailed Saul Sidney Klass after the shooting, using radio to direct police, who quickly closed in and made the arrest.

Shot down and killed by six bullets was Dr. Harold G. Trimble, 61, an internationally known chest specialist.

An attorney for Dr. Trimble said the physician paid Klass $30,000 in 1955 after Klass had prepared a civil suit charging criminal assault. The suit never was filed and Atty. Herman Cook said the money was paid "against our advice." Cook said he felt the charge was "too ridiculous to jeopardize" the "integrity" of the doctor.

Authorities said they had not prosecuted Klass' charge because of lack of evidence. A coroner's jury had ruled Mrs. Ella Klass, 45, had killed herself with a 22 rifle in 1954 because she was despondent over ill health. She had been Dr. Trimble's patient for eight years.

Dr. Trimble represented the United States in February at an international tuberculosis conference at New Delhi, India.

Klass, 53, became a jeweler after leaving the Navy.

Dr. Trimble was crossing a lawn on Oakland's busy "Pill Hill" area on his way to lunch at a hospital when he was killed. Police said Klass fired twice then with a Felsa special seven-shot automatic pistol before a number of witnesses. "Pill Hill" is a common term for a large section of medical buildings.

Hit in the back by one shot, the physician staggered on the sloping lawn screaming, "No, no." Witnesses said that as the doctor fell, Klass pumped four more bullets into him and he died almost immediately.

Harold G. Billings said he watched the shooting from his parked taxi and followed as Klass got into a car and drove away.

Driving through busy streets and past stop lights at speeds up to 60 miles an hour with one hand on the cab's wheels and the other holding the mouthpiece of his radio, Billings chased Klass for 11 minutes before the radio cars he was directing closed in.

Hubert Murray, a police lieutenant, said Klass surrendered quietly, remarking: "This is it. I did it. I've been waiting a long time to do this. He's a rapist."

Comedian's Daughter Files Divorce Suit

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The 22-year-old daughter of George Burns and Gracie Allen wants a divorce, and $1,375 a month in alimony and child support.

Mrs. Sandra Jean Wilhoite said in a complaint filed yesterday that her husband Young Wilhoite III, 26, recently quit his job and said he planned to loaf a while.

She said his lack of a job should have no effect on her money demands, however, as he stands to inherit $700,000 from his mother's estate in Texas.

Man Is Killed When Policeman's Gun Fires On Way to Station

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A 35-year-old man was shot to death yesterday while police were taking him to headquarters for questioning in the rape of a 15-year-old white girl.

Police Inspector Joe Clark said the shotgun he was carrying accidentally discharged when the patrol car hit a "big bump." The blast struck the prisoner, L. C. Thompson, a Negro, in the right side, killing him instantly.

The Police Department said it would hold a formal investigation. Officers said Thompson was placed in the back seat of the patrol car after his arrest, his hands handcuffed behind his back. Clark, a veteran of 18 years on the police force, was covering him with a gun.

Deputy Sheriff George Hilton said Thompson's body was identified by the girl as that of the man who assaulted her and robbed the service station where she was visiting two teen-age attendants. The two youths suffered slight stab wounds in the robbery.

Episcopal Bishop Notes Church Growth

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—The Episcopal Church's rapid growth in Missouri was outlined yesterday by Bishop Edward R. Welles at the diocese's 68th annual convention.

The diocesan leader told some 300 members the church has made tremendous gains in the past 10 years. Membership is "growing far more rapidly percentage-wise than is the general population of our area," Bishop Welles said.

He reported the following gains since 1947: "Number of congregations, 30 per cent; communicant membership 46 per cent; number of clergy, 86 per cent; total financial receipts of missions and parishes, 378 per cent, and missionary giving 408 per cent."

Top item on today's agenda was election of men for diocese positions.

Two Leaders In Senate Say Ike Bid Late

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senate leaders said today President Eisenhower's appeal to the people tonight for support of his spending budget may come too late to stem the economy tide in Congress.

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he thinks Eisenhower's TV-radio address will have "some influence" in whipping up support for his $71,800,000,000 spending budget.

"But I don't think the President's appeal will be sufficient to turn the tide," Bridges said. "The pressure for economy in government is increasing and it is my judgment Congress is going to cut this budget substantially."

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader, said he thinks Eisenhower has "waited too long" in his appeal for budget support.

"He is up against an avalanche," Mansfield said. "He might have turned it three months ago but there have been too many conflicting statements from administration officials about spending and economy in the meantime."

Eisenhower's talk will be carried live at 8 p.m., EST, by the four radio networks and by NBC-TV. Delayed telecasts have been scheduled by ABC-TV at 9 p.m. and by CBS-TV at 10:15 p.m.

Eisenhower generally is expected to follow in his talk the line he has pursued in recent news conferences—that his proposed spending level can be cut only at the expense of programs Congress has already ordered into effect or at the risk of undermining efforts to get world peace.

The President has said nobody is more dedicated to economy than he but that the budget must be big enough to keep the nation safe in a troubled world.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower's address will be "an attempt to straighten out" what Hagerty called "a lot of misinformation kicking around."

Eisenhower has agreed to a $1,300,000,000 reduction in his $73,300,000,000 requests for money to be spent in this and future years. But he has offered only a 500-million-dollar cut in proposed actual spending for the year beginning July 1. Spending in that year will be financed by funds made available by previous Congresses, as well as the present session.

Ringen Extension Club Holds Monthly Meeting

Small Tornadoes Lash Two Counties In South Missouri

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo. (AP)—Several small tornadoes lashed Howell and Oregon counties yesterday in southern Missouri, the State Highway Patrol said. No deaths or injuries were reported.

A funnel, shaped cloud, the trademark of a twister, dipped down at the Couch community in Oregon County toppling a tree on the new Salem Church south of Couch.

The church was believed to be heavily damaged, the patrol said. At the White Church community in Howell County, a Catholic church was damaged as was a general store.

Several trees were uprooted there.

In the Chapin community, southeast of West Plains, a farm home was damaged and trees were sucked out of the earth by strong wind, the patrol reported.

In an isolated area six miles south of here near U. S. 63, a tornado shredded several trees.

Rains Diminish In Texas; More Seen for North

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rains diminished in storm-battered sections of Texas today but wet weather was indicated in the northern two thirds of the country from the California coast to the Appalachians.

Floods still menaced widespread areas of Texas, hit again yesterday by tornadoes, thunderstorms and heavy rains. The turbulent weather which has hit the state for nearly a month has caused some 30 deaths in floods and driven more than 9,000 persons from their homes.

Twisters and funnel clouds also were reported yesterday in sections of Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Tennessee and Arkansas. One woman was killed in Memphis and three other persons injured in a tornado. More than a score of persons were hurt when a twister hit Conway, Ark. Tornadoes also struck other areas in Arkansas and near Omaha and in southern Illinois.

Heavy rains and strong winds hit some areas in the wet belt but rainfall amounts were largest in the Eastern Plains and the Ohio Valley.

Europe — and of illegally possessing firearms.

ADN said the leader of the group, identified as Gyula Sinkovits, was sentenced to life imprisonment and the others were given terms of up to 15 years. It did not say when the sentences were passed.

CONSTIPATED?
New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

British Say Russia Has World's Largest Fleet of Submarines

LONDON (AP)—The British government says Russia now has the world's biggest submarine fleet—500 underwater craft. Half of them reportedly are built for long-range operation.

But Christopher Soames, parliamentary secretary of the admiralty, said if war comes the NATO allies have "every intention of protecting the Atlantic sea lanes."

Soames told the House of Commons last night that NATO would be bolstered by "the main elements of the Royal Navy, which are committed to NATO in the event of global war."

Speaking during debate on the navy budget, Soames said the "new style navy will be a sharp and tempered weapon with fewer ships than the prewar fleet but with most formidable hitting power."

Dressen Takes Front Office Baseball Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Talkative Charlie Dressen would have voiced several versions of "crazy" to describe anyone who might have predicted eight days ago that he'd soon be off the diamond and in a front office baseball job.

But that's just where he is—as assistant to the president of the Washington Senators.

The 58-year-old Dressen accepted the post yesterday under a contract extending through 1959 at an undisclosed salary.

Dressen's willingness to move upstairs surprised some who thought he'd rebel at the thought of shedding a uniform after 38-plus seasons as player, coach and manager. And Dressen wouldn't say he has stepped into the business side of the game permanently.

However, he appeared his usual cheerful self in telling reporters he believes he can do the last-place Senators "a lot of good" in the new capacity.

Club President Calvin Griffith who fired Dressen as field manager one week ago today, said the chubby little veteran would spend his time "searching for players throughout the United States."

Dressen will lack the power of a general manager, and Griffith and new Manager Cookie Lavagetto will have to stamp approval on any deal he works out. But it will be up to Dressen to scare up talent for the club that hasn't breathed first division air at the end of any season since 1946.

The Senators have never had an official with this single and large responsibility.

Indianapolis Speedway To Be Kept Slow

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Indianapolis Motor Speedway may not be in top condition for record breaking Saturday if more thunderstorms develop as are predicted this week.

Qualifications for the 500-mile race May 30 will start Saturday, with the pole position—the inside spot in the front row—going to the fastest car on opening day.

The brick-and-asphalt track is at its best when it has a thin coat of tire rubber baked into the groove. Rain and absence of sustained hot weather have prevented this buildup.

Fred Agabashian of Albany, Calif., who has started the last 10 races here, predicted qualifying records will be broken even though the engines are smaller this year.

Agabashian said a reduction in engine size required this year may have reduced straightaway speeds but new, lighter cars are going through the turns faster.

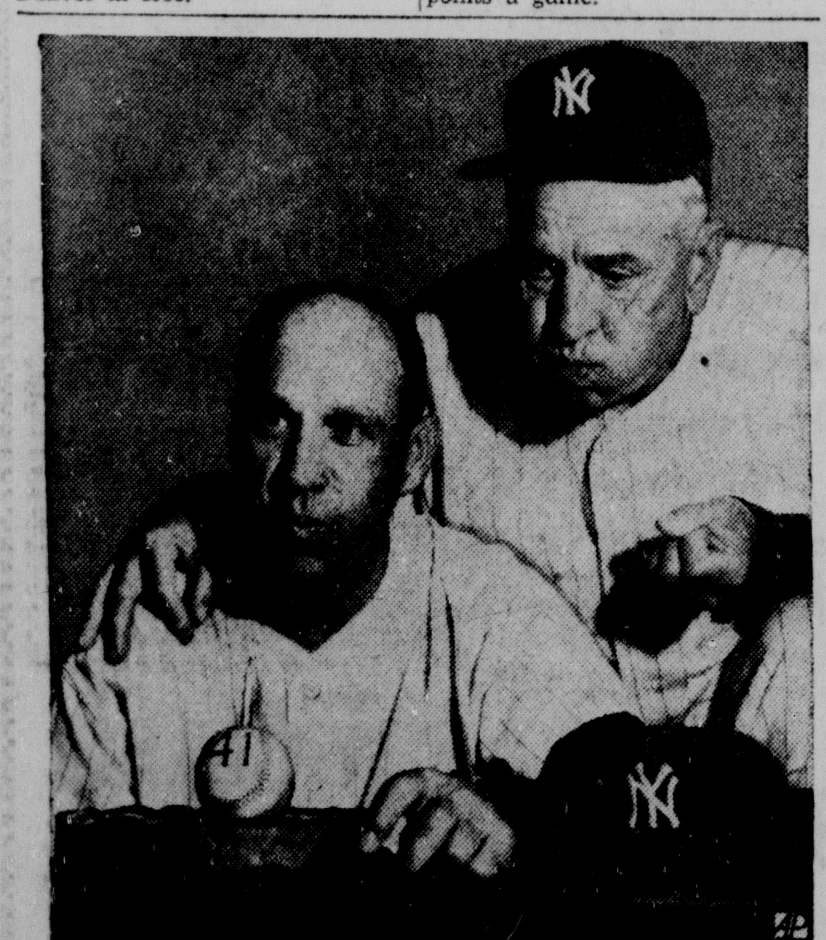

Pat Flaherty of Chicago, who went on to win last year's race, set qualifying records at 146.056 miles an hour for one lap and 145.596 for the four-lap, 10-mile qualifying distance. An injury suffered later in a race at Springfield, Ill., will prevent him from defending the marks.

Agabashian predicted it will take 147 to win the pole position. Sam Hanks, who has started 11 races here, said he expects one or two cars to exceed 145 miles an hour.

Troy Ruttman, winner of the 500 in 1952, and Pat O'Connor, an early leader last year, have been over 144 in practice.

Qualifications are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday and also for May 25 and 26. The fastest car Saturday will start in the No. 1 spot even though others may qualify at higher speed on later qualifying days. Only 33 of the fastest may start in the race.

Yankee rookie Tony Kubek grounded into only five double plays while playing 138 games with Denver in 1956.

Braves Seek Opportunity For Trading

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The question most asked in this baseball hotbed is how long can the Milwaukee Braves remain strong pennant contenders with four leftfielders who have a combined batting average of .163?

Chuck Tanner, the current tenant in the position, is hitting .192. Bobby Thomson, before he was benched, had a mark of .156. Wes Covington and Andy Pafko, used mainly as pinch hitters, each is hitting .143.

Asked whether he had any trade nibbles during his just concluded 18-day road trip, General Manager John Quinn replied:

"I think I talked with everybody, but there is nothing brewing. There's still time. The trading deadline is June 15."

"When you look over the list of right-handed-hitting left fielders," he said, "not many are available. At least not the ones you'd like. They're just not for trade."

Quinn said Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh, Willie Mays of New York, the Redlegs' Frank Robinson, Rip Repulski, of Philadelphia and Del Ennis of St. Louis were in this category. Thomas often was mentioned in trade rumors involving the Braves, especially last winter.

Quinn was asked if he thought the Braves' flag chances would be in jeopardy if they didn't come up with at least a 280 hitter in the position and he answered:

"Sometimes a player's batting average doesn't mean everything. He must hit in important runs for you to have value. Those are the things you have to evaluate. Some are better with men on base."

The Braves' four leftfielders so far have driven in eight runs among them, including only one in the last eight games.

Jimmy Archer Ends DiBiase's Winning Streak

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Archer, fresh from the docks of New York's West Side, is the big city's latest fistic idol.

The 22-year-old welterweight prospect ended Tony DiBiase's 20-month, 19-fight unbeaten streak by winning a bloody Pier Six battle at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

When DiBiase and Archer wound up their savage ten rounder, both were bleeding freely from multiple face cuts. Both will have to lay off for six to eight weeks.

Archer, making his television debut and going 10 rounds for the first time, gained the split decision on the strength of a blazing final round. Referee Joe Puskash (6-3-1) and Judge Charles Rosen (5-4-1) judge the majority for Archer. Judge Artie Aidala dissented. He had it 6-3-1 for DiBiase, the 12-5 favorite.

It was the ninth straight victory for Archer and gave him a 12-1 record.

DiBiase, a geology student at New York University, suffered his second pro loss for an 18-2-1 record.

There were no knockdowns. DiBiase weighed 148 to Archer's 146½.

Len Rosenbluth led North Carolina's 1957 NCAA basketball champions in scoring with 895 points in 32 games. He averaged almost 28 points a game.

Cookie Has Big Streak; Two in Row

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, the major leagues' newest and least envied manager, was enjoying his biggest winning streak today—two in a row with the cellar-warming Washington Senators.

That's quite an achievement for a fellow who took over a team in the midst of a 10-game losing streak only last week.

The Senators won the rubber of their three-game series from the Red Sox 5-3 last night. It was the only game played in the majors.

Big Ted Abernathy and little Herbie Plews led the Senators to victory. The 215-pound, 6-4 pitcher permitted only four hits and struck out four in posting his first victory after three defeats this season. The 5-10, 160-pound Plews rapped a double and two singles and drove in two runs to lead the eight-hit attack against loser Willard Nixon and two relievers.

After yielding a home run to Billy Klaus, the second man he faced, Abernathy surrendered on a single off his leg in the fourth—until Boston broke through for two hits and two runs.

The victory gave Lavagetto a record of 3-3 since he succeeded Chuck Dressen May 7. That's a spectacular pace compared with the team's 4-16 mark under Dressen.

In contrast to last night, a full schedule was in prospect today with six of the eight games to be played under the lights. Most of the attention will be focused on Cincinnati, where the Redlegs will try to extend their winning streak to 13 straight. Philadelphia and rookie Don Cardwell (2-0) offer the opposition.

Warren Hacker (3-1) has been named by Manager Birdie Tebbets.

The Milwaukee Braves, tied for the National League lead with Cincinnati, will be host to Brooklyn tonight.

Pittsburgh plays at Chicago and New York at St. Louis.

First place also will be at stake in the American League. The Chicago White Sox, leading New York by half a game, go into Washington while the Yankees are hosts to Kansas City. Cleveland, a game and a half behind the pace, are guests of Baltimore while Detroit visits Boston.

Suggests Films To Assist Officials
FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Jim Williams, basketball coach at Colorado A. and M. College, has his own ideas as to how basketball officials could improve their whistle tooting.

"At the start of next season," Williams says, "all of the officials who are scheduled to work Skyline Conference games would meet for a clinic. They would be shown films of conference games they worked the previous season, and when an obvious error shows up, it would be pointed out to the official involved."

"Then about one a week during the season, there would be other clinics of the same type held in Denver for the eastern division officials and in Salt Lake City for the western boys."

"We use films to help us in coaching. Why not use 'em in coaching the officials, too?"

Kluszewski Arrives At Boston Hospital

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Kluszewski, slugging first baseman of the Cincinnati Redlegs, has arrived here for examination of the slipped spinal disc which threatens to cut short his major league career.

Kluszewski refused to comment on his physical condition yesterday when he arrived in town.

He immediately went to the New England Baptist Hospital for an examination by famed neurosurgeon, Dr. James Popper.

Sam Snead Has Best Practice Round For Annual Tourney

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Sam Snead was out on his home course yesterday, "scrapping" around as the slammer often calls it.

His practice round of 64 on the par-70 Old White Course was just three strokes over the competitive record of 61 set by Ed (Porky) Oliver in the 1952 $10,000 White Sulphur Open.

Casualty List Of TV Shows Is Published

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Sponsor magazine reports that 39 of the 114 sponsored television shows on the three major networks this season are going off the air.

On the casualty list are 19 which bowed in during the season now drawing to a close. The 20 others have had at least two seasons. Since sponsor compiled its lists there have been well-founded rumors of other removals.

Altogether, statistically, it adds up to a casualty rate of about 35 per cent.

The fatalities break down into these categories: comedy, 4; action-adventure, 5; quiz programs, 4; variety programs, 2; drama, 2; sports, 1; and one difficult to categorize, "Noah's Ark."

It is futile, however, to try to draw profound conclusions from the types of new programs that have failed in 1956-57. The casualty rate, only a bit higher than last season's, does not indicate any great revolution brewing in TV programming.

For each fallen soldier of the television rating wars a dozen strain to leap forward and take the casualty's place.

The fact that the highest loss was suffered in the category of action-adventure shows does not mean that that type of program is on the wane. To the contrary, there will be more action-adventure shows than ever next season.

Some of the axed shows were pretty bad ones. Some were very good. All of the failures have not been of craftsmanship or skill. But all the failures have been commercial. That is, they have failed to hold their sponsors.

Sponsors base their judgments on two factors: (1) whether the show sells the product advertised; and (2) its audience rating against the opposition.

Among this season's casualties were some which suffered from the basic cause of every casualty everywhere: they were simply in the wrong places at the wrong times.

Gulled

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—When metal-framed windows in a new apartment project leaked, contractors applied new caulking compound. It helped only temporarily. Then a sharp-eyed resident spotted the cause of the trouble. Seagulls, apparently hard-pressed for food in the off-season, were pecking away the caulking.

9-Year-Old Girl Found Slain in Woods; No Evidence of Attack

BRISTOL, Conn. (AP)—A pretty, blonde 9-year-old girl was abducted on her way to school and slain yesterday.

The body of Brenda Jane Doucette, a third grader, was found in the woods just outside Bristol last night with a man's sleeveless sweater wrapped tightly around her neck.

An autopsy showed she had not been raped nor was there any evidence of an attempted sexual attack, said Deputy Coroner Frank Healey.

Brenda's body was found fully clothed at 7:50 p.m. in a clump of bushes nearly four hours after she had been reported missing by her father Baxter Doucette.

Dr. Irving S. Platt, medical examiner, said the child apparently was slain shortly after leaving for school.

The spot where her body was found is in the opposite direction from school and about 3 1/2 miles from the home where she lived with her parents and 4-year-old brother David.

Mary Martin Eager to Sing In Festival

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Along with sunshine and scenery, California can boast this year of a Mary Martin festival.

The Civic Light Opera of San Francisco and Los Angeles will get the musical star for 21 weeks, first in "South Pacific" and then in "Annie Get Your Gun." Needless to say, the cities are ready for her; the engagements are virtually sold out already. And she is more than ready for them.

"I never felt so eager to sing," she enthused between fittings for her "South Pacific" costumes.

The reason she is primed: she and husband Richard Halliday ranch in the heart of Brazil. "It was heavenly," she sighed. "For eight months we didn't hear a telephone, didn't read a newspaper. What did we do? The days were full. We were up at the crack of dawn to supervise work on the place. At night we'd collapse."

"For eight months I didn't sing. Now I'm full of energy and I can't wait to get started."

She's got plenty of work lined up for her. Besides fittings and rehearsals, she's recording an "Annie" album with co-star John Raitt. And as soon as she finishes the run here this fall, she'll do the show on a two-hour colorcast over NBC.

"That's how the whole thing came up," she explained. "Two years ago, we wanted to do the same thing with 'Annie' that we had done with 'Peter Pan'; do it on the stage and then TV. But MGM still held the TV rights, so we had to wait."

When the studio's rights expired, the deal was reactivated. As with "Peter Pan," the show is being originated here in cooperation with Edwin Lester. Halliday is producing.

Once again she has bob, will shampoo in "South Pacific." Giorgio Tozzi, promising young singer of the Metropolitan Opera, will co-star in the role originated by the late Ezio Pinza.

Viet Nam Leader Receives Byrd Memorial Award

NEW YORK (AP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam received an award last night citing his "inspired leadership of the free world."

The International Rescue Committee presented him with its first annual Adm. Richard E. Byrd Memorial Award at a dinner in his honor.

President Eisenhower, in a congratulatory telegram, said: "As the first recipient of the Richard E. Byrd Memorial Award, President Diem stands for the highest qualities of heroism and statesmanship. In the tradition of a great explorer, his inspiring leadership in the cause of the free world is opening up vast areas for the peaceful progress of mankind."

The visiting President told the dinner audience that fate has put his Asian country "at a crucial spot on the border between democratic freedom and Communist tyranny."

"Your aid," he said, "enables us to hold this crucial line and to hold it at less expense to you and at less danger to the world than you could have done it yourselves."

Pro-Western South Viet Nam is bordered on the north by the Communist state of North Viet Nam.

Took A Shine To It
 LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A 10-year-old girl in Fort Smith, Ark., apparently was impressed by Gov. Orval Faubus' appeal for a 16-million-dollar increase in the state sales tax.

She sent the governor a letter saying she had shined her father's shoes, charged him 10 cents plus a cent tax. She enclosed the penny.

Discovery of the tuberculosis germ was announced on March 24, 1882, by Professor Robert Koch, at Berlin.

For TV's Canine Stars Pay Is Higher Than People's

By JACK LEFLER
 HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some dogs are making more money than people.

The four-footed actors have found a fertile field for their talents in the TV quickies and are cashing in on it to the tune of considerably more than dog biscuits.

A couple of the top canine stars Rin Tin Tin and Lassie—have their own shows on drag down princely salaries plus a cut of the profits.

And a whole kennel-full of shaggy, long-eared thespians are working regularly as co-stars and in supporting roles.

Nepotism Rampant
 Rin Tin Tin, a fourth generation actor, is earning $3,000 a week. The 75-pound German shepherd has appeared in 78 TV films and has just put his paw to a contract for another 39, according to owner Lee Duncan.

The beautiful collie Lassie, who actually is Lassie Jr., has become rich and famous in TV as his father did before him in movies. Both had to be female impersonators to carry out their role.

Owner and trainer Rudd Weatherwax says Lassie Sr. earned $300,000 in the movies before retiring, and that Lassie Jr., signed a two-million-dollar television deal in 1954.

Like a lot of cowboy actors, Lassie Jr. now has a sidekick in his television episodes. The new actor is Pokey, a basset hound who supplies the comedy.

A dog that seems to have more fun out of his work than any other is Bullet, appearing with cowboy star Roy Rogers. Bullet also comes from an acting family. His grandfather was the movie star, Lightning.

Duke's Mixture
 Another descendant of canine thespians is Daisy, the bouncing little dog of the Blondie TV series. Trainer Rennie Renfro bred the first Daisy especially for the Blondie movies in 1938. The dog was a mixture of terrier, schnauzer, pekinese and toy bulldog.

Daisy I and Daisy II made 38 movies at Columbia studio. Seven-year-old Daisy III is in the television films. The pups appearing with her—Elmer, Lucy Punkin', Mickey and Boots—are descendants of the various Daisies.

Among other dogs appearing regularly in TV shows are the powerful Arctic malamute, Yukon King of the Sergeant Preston of the Yukon series; Cleo, the lugubrious long-eared supposedly talking dog of the People's Choice show, and Neal, the aimable St. Bernard who has had a long run as the ghostly martini-drinking dog of the Topper series.

Owners and trainers of these famous pooches stress that kindness is the basic principle in teaching them their tricks.

Rin Tin Tin's Lee Duncan gives these tips:
 "The first and most important thing to remember is the training of any dog is to speak from the heart in all commands. Let the dog know that you are sincere."

"It is cruel, needless and stupid to whip or mistreat a dog. Always keep your voice modulated when you give commands. Make the dog your friend rather than your pupil. You don't have to be overly demonstrative but you should praise your dog for everything which he does at your command."

Actress Gets Divorce, But It Costs Husband

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Veda Ann Borg, who testified last week that her husband told her he didn't care how she got a divorce, so long as it was cheap, got one yesterday. And it wasn't cheap.

The husband she shed was director Andrew McLaglen, 37, son of actor Victor McLaglen. Judge Bennett Wolfson confirmed a settlement that will give the 37-year-old actress $4,042 to complete payments on her new home, plus $390 in alimony, plus $100 a month for support of their 2-year-old son, plus 15 per cent of his earnings over $1,400 a month—to be paid into a trust fund for the child—plus 15 per cent of any gifts or inheritances, also to be paid into the trust fund.

Stag Party
 Houghton, Mich. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Uno Warjakka of Lac La Bell have a pet deer, Paddy, that likes to drink beer and chew tobacco. They've cut off his tobacco because he swallows it. But he is allowed beer along with plenty of milk and sugar.

Bottom Of It
 PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — Patrolman Charles Hines probed too deep on this case. A woman telephoned headquarters to report that weather and use had worn two large chuckholes in the pavement in front of her house. Hines went to the scene and soon radioed for a wrecker to pull his police car from one of the holes.

NEW STAR—A movie star who has never been to Hollywood is 27-year-old Ben Gazzara, another of screenland's fast-rising "younger generation." "The Strange One," his first movie, was filmed in Florida. It is based on his Broadway stage hit, "End as a Man."

Hal Boyle's Column

Conducts Research, Finds It Takes 42 Days to Eat an Ox

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

That people who say they're hungry enough to eat an ox probably don't realize it's more than a weekend job. Johann Ketzler, a methodical German, decided in 1880 to see just how long it would take to eat a whole roast ox. It took him 42 days, from tip to tail.

That of the 60 billion telephone calls Americans are said to make each year, 15 million are from people in distress.

That the average man shrinks about 3/4 of an inch between breakfast and sundown, even on days when his boss is tolerant.

That Kings College at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has in its chapel the only altar of coal in the world. It was made from a single block of anthracite weighing 4,200 pounds.

That the planet Jupiter is 317 times heavier than the earth and big enough to make 1,000 globes the size of our world. When you come right down to it there's really plenty of parking space left in the universe—getting to it is the real problem.

That two moths can produce 625 million descendants in a single year.

That wives in Nigeria are sometimes bought on the installment plan.

That it is estimated women possess 55 per cent of the nation's real estate. Thus America has more landladies than landlords.

That it takes up to four hours to boil an ostrich egg properly. A lobster will live about 50 years if you'll just let it alone. The fur seal goes ashore only once a year. And it is unwise to pet a strange elephant suffering with the hives.

That you're safer at work because 68 per cent of accidents happen off the job.

That it was poet Robert Frost who observed, "The brain is a wonderful organ; it starts working the moment you get up in the morning and does not stop until you get into the office."

Sen. Hennings said, "Jim Sullivan is an excellent lawyer, and I am sure that he will do an outstanding job on this committee, which deals with a subject of such vital interest today."

Hennings also announced the transfer of his administrative assistant for many years, Langdon West, to a new important position on the Senate committee on rules and administration. Sen. Hennings said that he was very pleased to be able to make this position available to West.

His new administrative assistant is Bernard Fensterwald, Jr., who has been associated with the Senator for a number of years, particularly in his fight against the Bricker Amendment, and who campaigned in Missouri for the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket last fall.

At the same time, Sen. Hennings announced that Pat Neilon of Union, Mo., has been appointed to a new position of doorkeeper of the Senate. Neilon is a long-time friend of the Senator and campaigned with him in both 1950 and 1956.

In addition to these appointments, Sen. Hennings also announced that Miss Hildreth Sharp of Springfield, Mo., is joining the staff of the rules committee. She formerly worked in Kansas City for 12 years with General Motors, War Assets and the Department of Justice, transferring in the Department of Justice to Washington, five years ago.

Dressed poultry is the term usually used for birds that have been killed and bled, have had their feathers removed and have been chilled or frozen.

Billy Graham Will Dedicate Garden In Ceremony Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham will dedicate Madison Square Garden as a place of God in a private ceremony tonight.

Tomorrow night in the Garden the globe-trotting evangelist will open his six-week New York crusade to win the city's "unchurched" to Christ.

Graham, 38-year-old Baptist preacher from North Carolina, plans to speak at each night's meeting in the 18,000-seat arena.

The Rev. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church and an ardent Graham supporter, predicted that an overflow crowd will turn out for the opening address.

A loud-speaker has been set up outside the Garden to take care of any overflow.

Seventy-one extra policemen will be stationed in the Garden area each night throughout the crusade.

Red Shipmate Dies Of Bullet Wounds

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—The first mate of a Russian freighter died in a hospital yesterday of bullet wounds received after the vessel left Manzanilla, Cuba, for Leningrad.

The freighter Holoznik put in Sunday to obtain medical aid for Valory Hedensky, 34. He was reported to have suffered several head wounds and to have been unconscious three days.

Capt. Aleksander Birjukor said the mate was wounded accidentally, but crew members would not divulge to newsmen how or when he was shot.

Olds Owner: Let me show you. This J-2 Rocket* is like two engines under the hood.

Friends: Neat trick—how does it work?

Olds Owner: It's a new progressive carburetor system. Gives you more economy... or extra power for safety. Take your choice.

Friends: Economy sounds swell... but with a big car like this...?

Olds Owner: You bet! They engineered the J-2 Rocket Engine for our kind of driving... top efficiency at normal driving speeds because it's fueled by one carburetor.

Friends: How about that extra power?

"Come on try it...
there's nothing like a J-2 Rocket!"

Olds Owner: Give it 3/4 throttle and two extra carburetors cut in. It's mighty reassuring to know you've got that extra power in the bank.

Friends: I get it. Economy when you want it—power when you need it.

Olds Owner: Correct. But talking about it won't give you the whole story. This one you've got to drive. Climb in—let's go.
